

ENTERS FATHER'S HOUSE

Son Says He Was Taking Lesson in Crime from Two Men.

BULLETS FIGURE IN CHASE

One Prisoner, Shot in Head by Bath Beach Patrolman, in Serious Condition.

James McKinney, Jr., started to learn burglary as a profession yesterday, with his father's house in Bath Beach as a practical working example, and to experience burglars, the police say, to explain him the fine points of the art.

One of the men brought a new "jimmy," and they arrived at the house, at No. 132 Bay Twenty-eighth street, Bath Beach, yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, and the first lesson in practical and applied burglary began.

The men said they liked his style and agreed to take him in as a partner and teach him all they knew. In the course of the talk he mentioned his father's house in Bath Beach, and the two men said that it would be just the thing for a first lesson.

After some hesitation McKinney agreed to take them to the house, and "turn it off" with them.

One of the men brought a new "jimmy," and they arrived at the house, at No. 132 Bay Twenty-eighth street, Bath Beach, yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, and the first lesson in practical and applied burglary began.

When Mrs. Rathgeber saw the men enter the house she began to cry, and when she saw the men enter the house she began to cry, and when she saw the men enter the house she began to cry.

When the police communicated with his family at the Marquette, the mother told him to "hold him." A brother, R. H. H. told him to "hold him." A brother, R. H. H. told him to "hold him."

An examination of the house by the police showed that a number of orders had been "turned in" and that silverware and clothing had been done up in bundles ready to be carried away.

The three men were arrested on a charge of burglary before Magistrate O'Reilly in the Coney Island court, and held for examination in $2,000 bail for February 14.

BIG INCREASE IN TRAFFIC

Elevated Lines Still Lead Subways, Though Latter Grow Faster.

In a table prepared by Dr. A. F. Weber, chief statistician of the Public Service Commission, which was made public yesterday, a comparison of the sales of tickets on the elevated and subway lines of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company is shown.

The tables show that the combined traffic of the four elevated roads still lead that of the subway. The elevated lines in 1910 carried 29,415,317 persons, as against the subway's 29,211,490.

Totals for the various elevated lines for 1910 were: Third avenue, 12,762,443; Sixth avenue, 8,619,222; Second avenue, 4,908,467; and Ninth avenue, 3,143,653.

In the tabulation the subway was divided into six parts, and the figures for 1910 were: Grand Central to City Hall, 6,422,000; City Hall to 142nd Street, 6,422,000; 142nd Street to 207th Street, 6,422,000; 207th Street to 34th Street, 6,422,000; 34th Street to 125th Street, 6,422,000; and 125th Street to 107th Street, 6,422,000.

HANDLING GRAND CENTRAL RUSH. An additional ticket booth was put into operation during the rush hours yesterday morning at the Vanderbilt Avenue entrance to the Grand Central station of the subway.

This action followed the investigation of numerous complaints received by the Public Service Commission from commuters. It was found that an additional ticket seller would relieve the congestion during the rush hours, and a man was put on the job in a temporary booth yesterday morning.

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE is the author of a prize story, entitled "The Contest," which will appear in to-morrow's Tribune. Don't miss it.

RAID IN SIXTH AVENUE

Flynn and Detectives Make Descent in Automobiles.

Deputy Police Commissioner Flynn raided an alleged gambling house in Sixth avenue, near 25th street, early this morning.

The raid was made by the Deputy Commissioner over the head of Inspector Daly.

When the party started for the door of the house a "lookout" tried to shoot the door against them, but was sent to the floor by a blow from "Billy" Leach, the Commissioner's chauffeur.

About a dozen rascals and four revolvers were found in the place. A safe which was broken open by the rascals.

According to the police, the place was conducted by Albino Brazil and Louis Marx, whose place in West 26th street was raided on January 26. The place, according to the police, had been in operation only forty-eight hours.

CONTROLLER MAY FIGHT

Likely to Ask for Change in Law on Transfer of City Deposits.

Controller Prendergast refused to comment yesterday on the activity of City Chamberlain Hyde in getting an opinion from Acting Corporation Counsel Sterling to the effect that checks of the Chamberlain transferring money from one bank to another did not have to be countersigned by the Controller.

It is understood that the Controller is satisfied that there is nothing in it to be interpreted by the city's chief accountant. There is no doubt, however, regarding the provision of the law requiring the Chamberlain to furnish to the Controller a statement at the end of each week showing the balances in the various city depositories.

Controller Prendergast will make it a point to watch this statement carefully, and he says he may make some sort of a fight for a change in the law governing city deposits.

It seems that there is a provision in the charter, quoted by Acting Corporation Counsel Sterling in his opinion, which after discussing the requirements for all city warrants, goes on to say: "provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to transfer checks transferring funds from one city depository to another."

GETS 6 CENTS FOR SLANDER

Mrs. Pickman Displeased at Notes in Hollins' Family Record.

Mrs. Sarah O. G. Pickman sued her brother-in-law, William Morris Hollins, brother of Henry B. Hollins, the banker, for $5,000 for alleged slander committed by him in a reference he made to her in a family record.

The case was tried in the Supreme Court yesterday, and the jury gave Mrs. Pickman a verdict for six cents.

The family record written by Mr. Hollins was not one of peace and eulogy alone. It contained entries telling of family strife.

Mrs. Pickman is the sister of Mrs. Hollins, and what she took particular exception to was the statement that she had "backed" her sister in forcing Hollins to sign a separation agreement.

When the case was called on for the first time, Mrs. Pickman said she never did anything of the kind.

Commissioner Waldo took his old friend for a tour around the firehouses throughout New York. The Boston commissioner said on his return that he had inspected with great interest the auto hose carts and water towers, and was very much interested in the new auto engines that Commissioner Waldo explained were to be put in use.

He expressed the view that the New York Fire Department was the best in the world.

DISCUSS CENTRE ST. TUNNEL

Disagreement as to Who Shall Bear $2,000,000 Cost of Connections.

There was a conference yesterday afternoon between Commissioners McCarrall, Rustis and Bassett for the Public Service Commission, and J. F. Caldwell and W. S. Menden, respectively vice-president and general manager and chief engineer of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system, on the proposition for the operation of the elevated-Centre street tunnel for elevated trains from the Williamsburg Bridge.

The first proposition submitted was turned down by the commission with some emphasis. The present plans are to have the terminal of the Centre street subway in the basement of the new Municipal Building, and it has been roughly estimated that the cost of making connection with the old bridge might be $2,000,000.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit officials think the city should pay the cost. The conference, however, will probably be held within a few days.

FORMS MACHINE GUN PLATOON

Captain O'Ryan Starts First Body of Its Kind in Any Militia.

Through the efforts of Captain John F. O'Ryan, commanding the First Battery Field Artillery, N. G. N. Y., the first machine gun platoon in the militia of any state has been organized. Every morning a column of horses and pack mules leaves the army in West Sixty-sixth street and New Yorkers may see a real war pack train on the "hike" any morning on Riverside Drive.

The train is usually in charge of Sergeant Walter Green, a soldier of wide experience in the regular army, and Chief Packmaster Robert Taylor, who is a veteran of the Boer War, the Spanish-American War and the Philippine campaigns.

MISS KLOEBEL IN BELLEVUE. Constance Kloebl, who wrote letters to Mayor Gaynor complaining of the police, who she said, persistently persecuted her, was committed to the psychiatric ward at Bellevue Hospital yesterday by Magistrate O'Connor in the Yorkville court.

TELLS OF ECKERT GIFT

Secretary Says General Told Him to Give Jewels to Son's Fiancee.

TWO DAYS BEFORE DEATH

Letters to Son Practically Cut Off Show That Father Regarded Him with Affection.

R. G. Page, Jr., former secretary of General Thomas T. Eckert, finished his testimony for three sessions of the court. Page, who evidently knew more about the affairs of General Eckert than any other man, went on in answer to questions to give complete explanations of the details of the social and financial affairs of his former employer.

For instance, he made it known for the first time that General Eckert gave all of his dead wife's jewelry, said to have been valued at $100,000, to Miss Minnie Egan, who was the housekeeper for the Eckerts.

Miss Egan, the younger son of the general, who was the principal beneficiary in the will now being contested by James Clendenin Eckert, the elder son. The witness testified that many of General Eckert's relatives implored him for money from time to time, and said he paid for the funeral of nearly every relative who died.

Henry M. Earle, counsel for the contestant, asked Page about the gift of the jewelry to Miss Egan.

"He directed me to give the jewelry to Miss Egan," the witness testified. "The general had called me to his bedside. He said he had intended to give them to Miss Egan as a wedding present, but he was fearful about his recovery. He told me that if I saw that he was in desperate condition I was to give the jewelry to Miss Egan in his name."

Page added that he carried out the instructions of General Eckert and gave the jewelry that had been Mrs. Eckert's to Miss Egan. He said that he had been told by General Eckert that the jewelry was to be given to Miss Egan as a wedding present.

"He never told me any one else about his affairs," Page testified. "I was not present at the moment when he died. He died in the morning, and I was not present at the moment when he died."

Touching on the subject of the requests made by members of the family on General Eckert for money, DeLancey Nicoll, counsel for Thomas T. Eckert, Jr., asked Page whether the general was glad to get these requests.

"No," answered the witness, "he was never in a happy frame of mind when he got them. He gave the money grudgingly."

MAY OUST STETSONITES

First Church Trustees Drop Many Names from Roll.

Trustees of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, have sent a letter to members which is arousing comment. Some are of the opinion that the communication was intended especially for those members of the church who supported Miss Augusta Stetson in her recent controversy with the administration, and the charge was made that it was the intention of those in control to drive the Stetsonites from the church.

The letter announced that the roll of membership was being revised and advised the member receiving it that the trustees have had no reply to previous communications and were unable to learn that the church services had been attended by such a large number of members.

While the names of those members who received the letters were not disclosed, it was understood that several wealthy business men were included. All of these, it was said, were followers of Mrs. Stetson, and voted with her when the first attempt was made to expel her from membership.

The action of the board of trustees was criticized on the ground that those who received the communication were dropped from the roll of membership without authority, and it was pointed out that the applications of such members for reinstatement were likely to be considered only in their rank avowed that they no longer regarded Mrs. Stetson as a true Christian Scientist.

TO IMPROVE RAILWAY SYSTEM

Kansas City Southern Will Raise $5,000,000 for That Purpose.

All the proceeds of the latest issue, amounting to $5,000,000, of the Kansas City Southern Railway Company refunding and improvement mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds, due April 1, 1920, are to be used for extensions and improvements to the system, including the laying of the rest of the main line with 8-pound rails, the reduction of grades, ballasting of roadbed, improvement of bridges, etc. The benefits of the expenditures now in progress are expected to be realized in increased efficiency of operation by next summer.

The average net earnings of the company for the last five years have shown twice the amount necessary to pay fixed charges. The $5,000,000 bonds referred to are part of an authorized issue of $21,000,000, of which $15,000,000 are outstanding. Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co. and the National City Bank will receive subscriptions for the bonds.

The subscription will be closed at 3 p. m. on Wednesday, February 15.

NO TELEPHONE MERGER

Independents Declare Against Consolidation at Chicago.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—Resolutions against a merger with the Morgan or Bell interests were adopted to-day by the National Independent Telephone Association. The members also went on record as favoring state commissions to regulate telephone business in general.

Amendment of the federal law was urged to give the Interstate Commerce Commission power to fix maximum and minimum telephone rates and "to cause to be done those things that the public convenience and interest demand." Five new directors were elected, as follows: W. J. Melchers, of Michigan; E. D. Schade, of Pennsylvania; J. C. Casler, of Texas; Frank Kondorf, of New York; and N. G. Hunter, of Indiana.

DECISION FOR ST. STEPHEN'S

Suit Against Transfiguration Chapel Clears a Title.

One of two suits long pending between Transfiguration Episcopal Parish, 29th street, near Fifth avenue, better known as the Little Church Around the Corner, and St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, 69th street, near Broadway, has been decided in favor of St. Stephen's Church.

The suit of the Transfiguration against St. Stephen's was to collect money on a mortgage taken instead of foreclosure. The mortgage was purchased from St. Stephen's Church and was purchased from Transfiguration vestry.

The other suit, that of St. Stephen's against the Transfiguration, was to clear what was held to be a restrictive title. This restriction related to the permanent use of the building purchased for a particular purpose. Its presence in the deed prevented St. Stephen's from entering the money market and borrowing its mortgage money at current rates.

The decision now handed down by the Court of Appeals removes the restriction in the deed, leaves St. Stephen's free to enter the open market and get a new loan and, in effect, it is said, brings to an end the Transfiguration suit against St. Stephen's. It will now be possible for St. Stephen's to borrow money and pay off the mortgage held by the Transfiguration.

The decision now handed down by the Court of Appeals removes the restriction in the deed, leaves St. Stephen's free to enter the open market and get a new loan and, in effect, it is said, brings to an end the Transfiguration suit against St. Stephen's. It will now be possible for St. Stephen's to borrow money and pay off the mortgage held by the Transfiguration.

The decision now handed down by the Court of Appeals removes the restriction in the deed, leaves St. Stephen's free to enter the open market and get a new loan and, in effect, it is said, brings to an end the Transfiguration suit against St. Stephen's. It will now be possible for St. Stephen's to borrow money and pay off the mortgage held by the Transfiguration.

WOMAN DEAD; GIRL CRIPPLED

Plenty of Food, Though Doctor Says She Starved to Death.

The body of a tenant known as Mrs. Vollmer was found on a couch in the kitchen of her apartment on the first floor at No. 463 East 158th street, last evening, when the police, at the request of the janitor, forced an entrance. A four-year-old girl, with her feet terribly swollen, but living, was found lying beside the body.

Dr. Lieberman, of the Lebonon Hospital, said that Mrs. Vollmer evidently died several days ago from starvation, and he ascribed the condition of the child's feet to their having been frozen.

On the other hand the police found half a bushel of coal, a bottle of milk and several loaves of bread in the room. They also found a purse containing $8.

The woman's husband was Frederick Vollmer, employed by the Walter Beam trucking concern, of No. 331 La Fayette street, the police said, adding that he had not been living with "Mrs. Vollmer," but that she received a check from the trucking concern each week for $9.

It was the opinion of the Lebonon Hospital surgeon that the child died Tuesday night. The janitor learned from the janitor that Mrs. Vollmer had been seen alive by a milkman on Tuesday morning, when she had paid her bill.

Mrs. Kipp, the janitor, said she believed the little girl, Frances, was the daughter of William Welsh, brother of Mrs. Vollmer, who was taken to Lebonon Hospital two weeks ago suffering from consumption. She was found to be true, and that Welsh had been transferred to Bellevue.

At Lebonon Hospital it was said that the little girl's feet were frozen and that amputation would probably be necessary. The officers learned her mother lived in the lower part of the city and was employed in some store.

ROBIN'S SISTER EVASIVE

Declares She Cannot Understand His Financial Transactions.

The second examination of Dr. Louise Robinson before Thomas Alexander, United States Commissioner, in the effort to obtain from her some information as to the assets of her brother, Joseph G. Robin, produced even less results than the first hearing. Almost every answer given by Dr. Robinson was evasive, and all attempts of Roswell Nichols, who examined her on behalf of the receiver for Robin, were blocked by her declarations that she was not a business woman and could not understand her brother's financial transactions.

She testified that her brother had asked her to lend him money for his education and other purposes, but she could not fix the amount and said it was more than $5,000 and might have been $50,000. She said her brother gave her "everything" last March, but upon persistent questioning finally conceded that her brother gave her the sum of $10,000.

Judge Hughes assigned Myers & Goldsmith yesterday as counsel for Robin in the bankruptcy proceedings brought against him. They filed on Robin's behalf an answer to the bankruptcy petition, in which all the allegations were denied. The answer says that the Northern Bank, one of the petitioners, holds security for the alleged indebtedness, and being a secured creditor it cannot become a petitioner for liquidation.

On the application of District Attorney Whitman all eight indelments returned against Robin were transferred yesterday by Justice Blanchard from the Court of General Sessions to the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court.

MAYOR LIKES HER BOOK

Writes Good Letter to Mrs. Martin, of Staten Island.

Mrs. Prestonia Mann Martin, wife of John Martin, of Grymes Hill, Staten Island, a member of the Board of Education, has received from Mayor Gaynor a note in which he acknowledged the receipt of a copy of a book she has written and says if her husband is the Mr. Martin he appointed to the Board of Education he will have to make her a member as well. The note is as follows:

"I received your book, 'Is Mankind Advancing?' and immediately read it through. That is something I seldom do with any book as most books can be read by the page instead of line by line. The subject is one which I have often thought and spoken of. I have often asked whether my mind has come upon this earth since the 23rd Psalm was written capable of writing the equal of that Psalm; and the same question could be asked of a hundred other things in the Bible, and many things in ancient literature and philosophy. You have treated the subject in a masterly manner, and unless I am greatly mistaken your book will be very widely read. Are you the wife of the John Martin whom I appointed to the Board of Education? If so, I think I shall have to appoint you to the Board of Education also."

On the application of District Attorney Whitman all eight indelments returned against Robin were transferred yesterday by Justice Blanchard from the Court of General Sessions to the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court.

SHIPPING NEWS

Port of New York, Friday, February 10, 1911.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

ARRIVED. Steamer Georgian, Puerto Mexico February 9, to New York, with mail. Arrived at the Bar at 8 a. m.

COURT CRITICISES LAWYER

Appellate Division Also Reverses Verdict for $17,500.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court reversed yesterday the verdict of a jury in the Supreme Court case of Alice O'Neill, who was convicted of perjury because she was struck by a Fifth avenue omnibus. The decision of the higher court, which was unanimous, severely criticised Thomas J. O'Neill, counsel for the plaintiff, for his "gross abuse" of his position of counsel.

It also said that the refusal of Justice Gurnea, who presided at the trial, to exclude witnesses for the plaintiff from the courtroom while one of them was testifying, as asked by counsel for the defendant, "closely approaches an abuse of discretion."

O'Neill is accused of trying to excite the jury by the fact that the court had decided the question of fact. The court said that in framing his questions on the examination he constantly stated the testimony of a witness incorrectly and that he would give the witness no opportunity to correct him.

O'Neill also intimated in his summing up to the jury, that some of the witnesses for the defence had been guilty of perjury, and he denounced the lawyer for the defendant.

Presiding Justice Ingraham, who wrote the decision, said there was no evidence that any of the witnesses testified falsely, and that the summing up was entirely correct. He said that the court had given the jury a clear statement of questions which they were to decide and in some way indicate what it was necessary to establish to entitle to a verdict.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE

MINIATURE ALMANAC. Sunrise, 7:49; sunset, 5:23; moon sets, 6:05; moon's age, 11.

HIGH WATER. A. M. P. M. Sandy Hook, 6:31 6:38 Governor's Island, 6:31 6:38 Hell Gate, 6:31 6:38

WIRELESS REPORTS. The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

The Campania, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this morning.

LA GUAYRA, Feb. 10.—Molite (Ger), New York via Havana, San Juan, Kingston and Colon.

Yokohama, Feb. 9.—Lucerne (Br), New York via Hong Kong and Shanghai for Puget Sound, Gibraltar, Feb. 10.—Klabing (Ger), New York via Lisbon and Cadiz for Algiers, etc.

Bermuda, Feb. 10.—130 a. m.—Bermudian (Br), New York. Fremantle, Feb. 8.—Birkenhead (Ger), New York via Cape Town.

SAILED. Molte, Feb. 8.—Indra (Br), New York. Kingston, Feb. 9.—Clyde (Br), (from Southampton) via St. Michaels, etc., New York.

10th, Orontea (Br) (from New York), Colon, Barbados, etc., and Southampton. Hull, Feb. 9.—Francisco (Br), New York. Rotterdam, Feb. 9.—Katura (Br) (from Hongkong), New York.

Port Limon, Feb. 6. 4 p. m.—Santa (Ger), New York. 6 p. m. Albany (Ger), New York.

PASSED. Selly, Feb. 10.—Vaderland (Belg), New York for Dover and Antwerp. Arrived Feb. 10.—Klabing (Ger), New York via Colombo for Boston and New York.

Lizard, Feb. 10. 1:40 p. m.—Vaderland (Belg), New York for Dover and Antwerp.

"Without being extreme"

The new Red-Man collar differs quite a little from the prevailing high band shape without, as we say, being at all extreme.

EARL & WILSON.

2 for 25 cents.

Antique Bellows